

Supporting Information

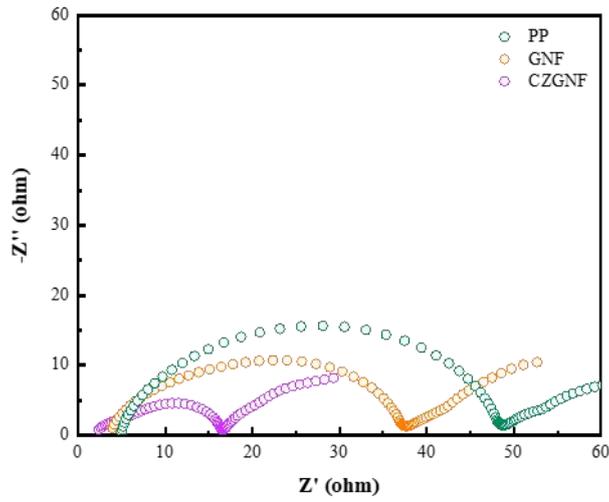

C₆₀ and ZIF-67 synergistically modified gelatin-based nanofibrous separators for Li-S batteries

Xin Liang^{1,}, Dongqing Zhao¹, Lulu Wang², Qianqian Huang¹, Chonghai Deng¹, Lili Wang¹, Lei Hu¹, Sheng Liang¹, Huaxia Deng^{3,}, Hongfa Xiang^{2,*}

¹School of Energy Materials and Chemical Engineering, Hefei University, Hefei 230601, Anhui, China.

²School of Materials Science and Engineering, Engineering Research Center of High-Performance Copper Alloy Materials and Processing, Ministry of Education, Hefei University of Technology, Hefei 230009, Anhui, China.

³Department of Modern Mechanics, University of Science and Technology of China, Hefei 230026, Anhui, China.

Supplementary Figure 1. EIS spectra of Li-S batteries containing the different separators after 100 h.

Supplementary Figure 2. TGA curves that were recorded for the S/MWCNT.