

Prof. Bin Wang,

Institute of Fundamental and Frontier Sciences,
University of Electronic Science and Technology of China (UESTC),
Chengdu, Sichuan, China

Bin Wang got his Ph. D. degree from Fudan University, China in 2009. Then he moved to University of California, Berkeley and Lawrence Berkeley National Lab, USA, for postdoctor research. In 2013, he moved back to China as the Young Scientists. Now he is a full professor at UESTC, China. He has published about 90 peer-reviewed papers in scientific journals such as Adv. Mater., Adv. Funct. Mater., Adv. Energy Mater., Energy Environ. Sci., Nano Energy etc with several cover or back cover highlighted papers with H-index of 39.

Professor Wang's research is mainly focused on flexible materials for wearable energy storage devices.

Terms of Appointment

Mar 2021 - Dec 2024